

CSTM Website Policies

- CSTM offers its website for the information and education of its members, other healthcare professionals, and the general public.
- Policies for the CSTM website are established and approved by the CSTM Board of Directors.
- Users may copy and use portions of the CSTM website for educational purposes, consistent with copyright law, provided credit is given to the CSTM. Any copying, distribution or other use, by written or electronic means, other than the "fair use" described above requires advance written permission from CSTM.
- CSTM provides links to other websites which are relevant to the interests of its members and other healthcare professionals. The CSTM is not responsible for the content or accuracy of the information provided by other websites linked to its site.
- CSTM provides resources which are relevant to the interests of its members and other healthcare professionals. The CSTM is not responsible for the content or accuracy of the information provided in these resources.
- The CSTM does not endorse the specific views and opinions expressed in the CSTM blog, twitter and Facebook entries. The content transmitted on CSTM social media is not intended as a substitute for medical or legal advice and the content should not be relied upon for medical or legal purposes. Readers should make their own determinations as to: (1) what constitutes appropriate medical, technical and administrative practices and (2) how best to comply with laws, Standards and regulations relevant to their questions. The reader of the CSTM social media, by accessing same, assumes all risks arising out of such use and releases CSTM and their respective members, directors, officers and agents from and against any loss, damage, claim or liability arising out of such use of the social media. Inappropriate and/or inflammatory entries will be removed.
- The CSTM respects the privacy and personal information of members and other visitors to the website. Any identifiable information collected at this site will be kept strictly confidential and will not be sold, reused, loaned, or otherwise disclosed. Personal information such as name and email address are only collected if provided for membership purposes, by submitting a request or inquiry to the website contact or by entry in the blog, twitter or Facebook accounts.
- When visiting our Web site, our Web server automatically collects analytic information such as internet protocol (IP) address, date and time of visits, the pages viewed, time spent at our Web site. Linking these addresses with the identity of the individuals would only be attempted if an attempt to damage the site was detected.